Creative Ireland – Creative Climate Action Fund

The arts, culture, heritage and wider creative communities have a vital role to play in bringing the urgency of climate change to the forefront; in imagining and communicating the need for action at all levels of society.

The Creative Ireland Programme in collaboration with the Department of the Environment, Climate and Communications is delighted to announce the launch of Creative Climate Action. The €2 million fund - the first of its kind in Ireland - is for big creative projects that meaningfully connect people with profound changes we need to make.

Creative Climate Action is looking for proposals which can use creative and artistic approaches to transform connection and awareness into climate action and behaviour change.

Read the Brief here

Who can Apply?

The fund is open to a wide variety of artforms and mediums across the creative and cultural sectors, including dance, film, literature, music, opera, architecture, street arts and spectacle, theatre, traditional arts, visual arts, cultural heritage, circus, libraries, museums, design of all kinds, animation and games, the audiovisual sector, publishing and fashion.

Applications are invited along two strands:

Creative and climate organisations, NGOs, charities, enterprises, institutions, or collectives/networks with the capacity to work with creative and cultural practitioners.

OR

Local authorities individually, or in collaboration with other local authorities or with external partners, who can connect with and support creative and cultural practitioners.

Nominations open for Garda Youth Awards 2021 – closing date for nominations Friday 30th April 2021

The Roscommon-Longford Garda Division, in association with Roscommon and Longford County Councils, is delighted to hold the third annual Roscommon-Longford Garda Youth Awards.

The awards celebrate outstanding young people between the ages of 13 and 21 years. Roscommon-Longford Gardaí, along with Roscommon and Longford County Councils, recognise that a lot of good work is being done by young people in every community throughout both counties which should be rewarded.

Awards will be considered for nominated young people who by their presence, make their communities a better place to live. There will be four winners of the Roscommon-Longford Garda Youth Awards for 2021:

- Individual – where a young person has made a positive contribution to their community making it a better place to live
- Group – where two or more made a positive contribution to their community making it a better place to live
- Special Achievement – where a young person has overcome difficult circumstances, defied all the odds and whose commitment deserves recognition
- Community Safety – where a young person or persons, through a crime prevention or safety initiative/innovation, have made their community a safer place to live in

Relevant persons/organisations/groups in the Roscommon Longford Garda Division are encouraged to put forward young people who demonstrate these qualities for nomination.

A judging panel will decide upon a nominee in each category and their nomination form will then be forwarded to represent the Roscommon-Longford Garda Division for consideration for the National Garda Youth Awards in October 2021. It is hoped that the Roscommon-Longford Garda Youth Awards will be presented at a virtual ceremony before the end of May.

Nomination forms (in typed format) and media consent forms should be emailed to Roscommon.GardaYouthAwards@Garda.ie or posted/handed into the Community Policing Unit at Castlerea, Granard, Longford or Roscommon Garda stations or directly to Garda Angela Mullooly, Strokestown Garda Station, Strokestown, Co Roscommon F42 EY27 before Friday April 30th 2021.

Should you have any queries please contact Angela by email above or call her at Strokestown Garda Station on 071 96 33002 or 087-7955098.

Information Issued by Garda Angela Mullooly on behalf of Inspector David Cryan, Community Policing Unit, Roscommon-Longford.

With everyone being asked to stay at home a little while longer, individuals and groups are looking for new ways to give back or simply to keep busy. Volunteer Longford and LCRL, along with the network of Volunteer Centres across Ireland, have been working hard to identify ways of doing this while staying safe and staying in their own locality and so the #VolunteerFromHome campaign was born!

We have a wonderful range of ways to give back while at home. The latest initiative in this campaign is #SpruceUpYourStreet. We are asking people to get involved in some small way by doing something to brighten up their own immediate surroundings, and we have lots of ideas to get people started as you'll see on the attached poster I am asking you to circulate.. This initiative will be part of our programme of events for National Volunteer Week (17th – 23rd May).

I ask that you might help promote it in your individual electoral areas and through your social media platforms and also with community groups you may work with. People can send pics of their efforts to info@volunteerlongford.ie and we'll display them on our website and FB/Instagram pages. I will also be contacting local media outlets to ask if they will publicise it.

Thanks for your time. 😊 Longford Volunteer Centre.

Online Event for Community Groups in Longford

Event 2: Remote Working and Communities – Facilities

Tuesday 20th April 7:30 – 8:30 pm

Join our online event -

Tuesday, 20th April, 7:30 – 8:30pm

Adapting community facilities for remote workers

The role of community organisations in facilitating hybrid remote working solutions

Our second event looks at opportunities for community groups arising from the challenges that have emerged from enforced working from home, for example:

- Lack of access to high-speed broadband
- Lack of suitable workspace at home
- Lack of social interaction throughout the working day

Community organisations have a key role in the transition to sustainable remote working and hybrid working practices, facilitating access to broadband, quality workspace and offering new modes of connecting through work.

Sean O'Coisdealbha from Údarás na Gaeltachta joins us for this event and will share his experience of adapting community infrastructure to meet emerging demands of remote working and his unique insight into the future of remote work in Ireland's Gaeltacht communities.

From the community angle, we are delighted to have John Lynch, St. Aidan's GAA Club, Co. Roscommon talking about their experience in adapting space for remote working.

A message from the HSE Resource Office for Suicide Prevention

Longford/Westmeath & Louth/Meath

At this point in time, I would like to take the opportunity to connect with you and update you on the current services and recent developments in relation to suicide prevention training and signposting material offered by the HSE Resource Office for Suicide Prevention.

I am also taking this opportunity to remind you of the many services and resources that are available to provide support to those who may wish to avail of such support so that this information can be widely circulated.

Awareness and Training Programmes:

1. Due to the current restrictions, delivery of face to face suicide prevention programmes (safeTALK, ASIST and Understanding Self-Harm) are now paused.

In the interim, an online suicide prevention programme – LivingWorks Start – is available. The programme is targeted at anyone over the age of 18 who wants to help prevent suicide and develop the skills to assist someone who may be at risk of suicide. It can be completed in 1½ hours and includes a four-step model and impactful simulations which are undertaken and put into practice during the programme. A licence is required to undertake the programme and these can be accessed by contacting me at: eddie.ward@hse.ie

2. An 'Introduction to Self-Harm' programme is also now available in an online format. This programme is suitable for those who seek to develop their knowledge and understanding of self-harm and the reasons underlying such behaviour, how to support and care for those engaging in self harm and gain knowledge regarding the resources and services that are available. Scheduled dates are outlined on <https://bookwhen.com/suicidepreventiontrainingmidlands> and the programme can also be delivered within settings to groups of 15 people over the age of 18 yrs by contacting me at: eddie.ward@hse.ie
3. An online version of the 'Workshop for Professionals and key contact people providing support to those bereaved through suicide' is now available. The programme explores the unique needs of suicide bereavement so that participants become more equipped to provide support in the safest and most effective way possible. The programme is a blended workshop consisting of an online e-learning module and a 4-hour virtual online workshop. The workshops covers five key topics: a) understanding the grieving process, b) the context of suicide, c) how to support people bereaved through suicide, d) skills building, e) self-care. The programme is available to groups of 12 people from various centres/settings and requests or queries can be made by contacting me at: eddie.ward@hse.ie

Information/Signposting Posters:

The following resources are available (via email or hard copy) upon request by contacting me at: eddie.ward@hse.ie

- 'Personal and Community Information and Support Directories' on a bi-county basis.
- 'Help is at Hand for your emotional well-being and mental health during Covid-19'
- 'Help & Support Information Cards' - County focussed in a wallet size format
- 'Numbers if you need them' – information postcard.

Leaflets and other resources:

A selection of information and support leaflets as outlined below are also available on request:

- 'Responding to a person in suicidal distress – Guidance Document for public facing staff or volunteers'. This document aims to support staff and volunteers working in public facing roles to interact with people who present or contact the service in distress or at risk of suicide and self-harm.
- 'Would you know what to do if someone told you they were thinking of suicide?'
- 'If you have been bereaved by suicide'
- 'Supporting someone bereaved by suicide'
- 'Self harm and young people – and informational booklet for parents and concerned adults'

Local and National Supports and Services:

- A free 24/7 text service, providing everything from a calming chat to immediate support for people going through a mental health or emotional crisis is now available and can be availed of by texting HELLO to 50808.
- www.yourmentalhealth.ie provides information and signposting on all mental health support and services that are available nationally provided by the HSE and its funded partners. There is also a Freephone YourMentalHealth information line – 1800 111 888.
- Suicide Bereavement Liaison Service
For those who may be grieving the loss of a loved one to suicide, the HSE funded Suicide Bereavement Liaison Service

(in conjunction with Pieta House) is available to provide practical help and support. Please contact the relevant Suicide Bereavement Liaison Officer for your area as follows:

Shaping Our Electricity Future - EirGrid launch 14-week consultation on future of electricity grid

I am reaching out to you today to let you know about Shaping Our Electricity Future, a consultation we are launching today.

This consultation aims to identify the best way for Ireland to move from reliance on fossil fuels to cleaner energy. EirGrid is responsible for the flow of electricity around the country and we are hosting a nationwide 14-week consultation to find an agreed approach to reach the Government's 2030 renewable electricity target - of at least 70% of Ireland's electricity coming from renewable sources by 2030.

Homes, communities and businesses across Ireland cannot "go green" without the right electricity grid to transport the renewables-based electricity. Over the next 10 years, we are going to transform the system – without question, the most radical transformation of the grid since electricity was invented.

Ireland has world-class conditions for renewable energy – wind (on- and off-shore) and solar – and with the right infrastructure in place we can decarbonise the system. Ireland needs significant investment and development of its electricity grid if it is to meet the social and economic policy goals of the country. This will mean making far-reaching changes to our electricity system – changes that will affect everyone on the island of Ireland. That's why we want to collaborate with the public to find the best way of shaping our electricity future.

We have outlined 4 approaches that we are seeking views on and these include:

Approach 1: Generation-Led - Plan for electricity generation at the most suitable locations

- In this approach, government policy would influence where renewable energy is generated - favouring locations where the grid is already strong and taking local demand into account.
- This makes better use of the existing grid. It could also lead to more offshore wind generation on the east coast - reducing the need for onshore wind farms.

Approach 2: Developer-Led - Continue to develop the grid on a project-by-project basis in any location

- In this approach, we continue to connect new sources of renewable electricity as requested in any location – upgrading and strengthening the grid to suit circumstances in each case.
- This would mean completing over 100 individual projects between now and 2030 which is not feasible.
- This approach means we would not meet our 70% 2030 target

Approach 3: Technology-Led - Change the technology used for the grid infrastructure

- This approach, using proven technology, makes the electricity grid more resilient, so that it is better able to handle onshore renewable energy.

- It uses underground cables to carry high voltage direct current - moving clean electricity from the west coast (where the energy is generated) to the east coast, without disrupting the existing grid.
- It is an expensive, technically challenging and complex solution and is rarely used on national grids.

Approach 4: Demand-Led: The location of large energy users is decided by government policy

- This approach means government policy determines where large scale energy users – such as data centres and big industries – are located.
- Heavy electricity users like these would be situated closer to sources of renewable energy.
- Though it would mean influencing the decision making of high-demand customers wishing to set up or expand in Ireland.
- Changing where electricity is used in this way would need the support of stakeholders. Without it, we could not achieve our 70% target by 2030.

There are some foundation projects that are common to all four approaches and the final plan is likely to include elements of all approaches, strongly led by one of them.

A key aspect of the launch today is the scale of the consultation we are planning to undertake. Over the 14-week period we will be hosting groups and forums and working in partnership with industry, the National Youth Council of Ireland, Irish Rural Link, Chambers Ireland and others to host consultative forums and discussions. A central component will also see the holding of a Deliberative Dialogue (modelled on the Citizen’s Assembly).

We are asking Public Participation Networks to get involved in this consultation through our regional virtual workshops organised in partnership with Irish Rural Link. We will follow up in due course with more information on this. For the time being, we can provide the following information for your calendar:

Department of Rural and Community Development

Minister O'Brien welcomes the role of PPNs in the development of the next Climate Action Plan

Joe O'Brien TD, Minister of State at the Department of Rural and Community Development with special responsibility for Community Development and Charities, has welcomed the launch of the Climate Action Plan Public Consultation.

This process is being used to develop Ireland's next Climate Action Plan and will support the update of the Climate Action Plan 2019 leading to a wide ranging and more in depth citizen, community and sectoral discussion.

The aim of this dialogue is to give the public an opportunity to engage constructively with the development of the Climate Action Plan 2021. It will involve a series of interlinked dialogues and conversations, which will feed into an annual National Climate Conversation. The public consultation will run concurrently with a call for evidence that will accommodate more detailed and expert input.

There are three stages to this process including a broad online conversation, an in-depth citizen conversation and local level conversations that will be facilitated and hosted by Public Participation Networks (PPNs). These local level conversations will include engagement with community and voluntary representatives to inform the delivery of a Climate Action Fund to support climate related initiatives at a local level.

Further information on the development of the new Climate Action Plan including how individuals and communities can engage with the consultation process can be found on gov.ie. Contact: The Department of Rural and Community Development Press Office 076-1006843 / 087-1734633

Press release dated 26th February 2021

Ministers Humphreys, McGrath and O'Brien announce €10 million in COVID Stability funding for community and voluntary groups Department of Rural and Community Development

Funding targeted at organisations which have suffered due to Pandemic

A €10 million fund is to be established to assist community and voluntary organisations, charities and social enterprises, which have suffered as a result of the COVID-19 Pandemic. The funding was jointly announced by Minister for Rural and Community Development, Heather Humphreys TD, Minister for Public Expenditure and Reform, Michael McGrath TD, and Minister of State with special responsibility for Charities and Community Development, Joe O'Brien TD. The €10m investment builds on the €45 million COVID-19 Stability Fund which, in 2020, supported over 600 organisations to continue delivering vital services to the most vulnerable in our communities. The new funding, agreed as part of the Government's Resilience and Recovery Plan, is targeted at organisations that have seen their trading and/or fundraising income drop significantly as a result of the Pandemic.

The funding will be administered by Pobal on behalf of the Department of Rural and Community Development.

The Government is aware of the challenges facing community and voluntary organisations and is committed to working closely with the sector in managing through these, recognising that it will require a whole of Government approach.

Further details of the online application process will be made available in due course.
